GARTMORE APPOINTS JAN DE BRUIJN AS HEAD OF ASIAN EQUITIES

Gartmore is pleased to announce the appointment of Jan de Bruijn as Head of Asian Equities. Jan will join Gartmore's Global Emerging Markets Team and report to Chris Palmer, Gartmore's Head of Global Emerging Markets. It is anticipated he will join in early 2010.

Jan has 17 years' investment industry experience, and has spent the last three years at Threadneedle Asset Management managing Asian Equity long-only, institutional and hedge fund strategies. Prior to this, he was a Senior Portfolio Manager at Scottish Widows Investment Partnership (SWIP).

At Gartmore, Jan will assume management of the Gartmore Pacific Opportunities Fund and Gartmore SICAV Asia Pacific Fund. He will also provide specialist regional support on the Asian component of the Global Emerging Market mandates managed by Chris Palmer, and enable the development of an alternative business in Asian equities.

Commenting on the appointment, Dominic Rossi, Gartmore's Chief Investment Officer, said: "We are fully committed to investing in emerging markets and expanding our current product range. Jan is a highly experienced Asian equities manager with a successful track record of managing retail, institutional and hedge funds. His appointment is testament to our ambition and we look forward to welcoming him to Gartmore."

Chris Palmer, Head of Global Emerging Markets, added: "We see a continued growth in the size and complexity of Asian Emerging Markets. With a positive outlook for economic growth, Jan's appointment allows us to add a dedicated focus to these important markets, building on our existing strengths in areas such as Latin America and China."
